Benjamin Noriega-Ortiz is recognized as one of the most stylish and influential of today's interior designers, traveling throughout the world to produce projects for such clients such as Lenny Kravitz, Laura Esquivel, Mark Seliger, Michael Fuchs, and Sean Combs. Although he loves residential design, his latest passion (other than traveling) involves designing hotels for the Morgans Hotel Group, owners of the Delano and Mondrian M brands among others.

With his life partner Steven Wine, Noriega-Ortiz owns the exclusive custom lighting studio ABYU Lighting. His first book, Emotional Rooms, The Sensual Interiors of Benjamin Noriega-Ortiz, is available in stores now.

Mondrian LA was designed to be provocative and sensual, appealing to the vanity and beauty of their LA clientele. Inspired by Lewis Carroll's famous fairy tale Through the Looking Glass, the design brings you to the other side of the mirror, where you find a world of your own grounded in what is quintessential Hollywood: "excitement, invincibility, and glamour."
